TO PARENTS OF SERVICE FOLK IN KOREA

The Freeman regrets its inability to carry a list of names of prisoners of war held by the Communists in Korea.

The Associated Press bureau in New York, which carried the lists on its wires last night, failed to let The Freeman know this was being carried, so that our teletype receivers might have taken this information for our readers. Today the same Associated Press bureau refused to send The Freeman a list by wire.

Federal Solution Seen About Steel

Observers Think Truman Will Send Matter to Wage Board

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The deadlocked steel labor dispute appeared headed today toward a government-directed solution to avoid interrupting vital military and civilian production.

Observers were betting that President Truman would send the ominous labor case to the Wage Stabilization Board for a recommended settlement well before the New Year's Day strike deadline of CIO President Philip Murray's steelworkers.

Murray had some expensive demands, including a 15-cent hourly pay boost, which could dent wage controls. On the other hand, the steel industry was balking at giving Murray anything unless it also gets price relief, a position that could put great pressure on price controls.

Has Several Choices
Everybody expected the economic tug-of-war eventually will land in the President's lap. He has several choices. One is to send the case to the wage board for a recommended settlement. He could seize the steel industry as a beleaguered public-interest property under the draft law. Or he could invoke the Taft-Hartley Act's court injunction procedures.

The expected course was that Mr. Truman would send the steel case to the Wage Board.

The federal mediation service has arranged government-guided negotiations with ten principal steel firms and Murray's union beginning here tomorrow. Hardly anyone, however, expected this course could produce any agreement before the end of the year.

With the steel industry claiming price allowances and the government demanding wage improvements and the industry saying it couldn't afford them, the administration course seemed fixed.

This was to send the case to the Wage Board for hearing and suggestions for a solution—along with a probable direct White House appeal that Murray delay his strike a while beyond New Year's Day.

Government rebuffs to steel industry representatives seeking upward price changes were renewed by Price Administrator Michael V. Di Salle yesterday. He said there will be no "unjustified price increases" to buy peace in the steel industry.

Disarmament Body Is Provided in Setup; Members Are on Security Unit

Paris, Dec. 19 (AP)—The United Nations overwhelmingly adopted the western disarmament plan today and threw out a Russian bid for an immediate ban on atomic weapons.

The vote on the whole plan was 44 to 5, with 10 abstentions and Burma not participating.

The decision was taken by the 60-nation political committee after the longest single-subject debate in assembly history. It will be formalized by a final vote of the same nations sitting in the assembly.

A new disarmament commission, instructed to try to end the costly world arms race along lines laid down by the western powers, will be set up under the plan.

Russian amendments which would have twisted the western proposals into a Kremlin plan all were decisively spurned.

The Soviet ban on the atom was voted down 42 to 6, with 9 abstentions, and three countries absent.

Russia's proposal was in an amendment to a French-British-American disarmament proposal.

Disarmament Commission
The western plan would set up a new disarmament commission and instruct it to work for a step-by-step reduction of arms, including creation of a tamper-proof system of international inspection and control ahead of a ban on the atom bomb.

Russia wanted the bomb banned without any conditions and before establishment of a control system.

The committee immediately approved the new commission by a vote of 51 to 0 with 7 abstentions.

Establishment of the commission was the only point in the western plan which Russia was willing to accept.

Members of the commission will be the 11 nations of the Security Council, plus Canada. It will be under orders to report by next June 1 its progress toward mapping a world system of disarmament.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky said yesterday Russia will join in the project even though it doesn't approve of the instructions given the commission.

Wintry Weather Continues Over Most Of Nation; Roads Hazardous, 200 Die

(By The Associated Press)
Another snowstorm and cold struck again today over wide areas of the nation which staggered from nearly a week of blustery, wintry weather.

The new storm centered in the northern and central Rockies and snow pelted areas in the mountain region and the northern plains states.

It was another morning of sub-zero cold in the snow-covered Midwest as a new mass of cold air pushed across the Canadian border.

Some areas of the storm belt from the Pacific northwest to the New England States were promised moderating temperatures today. But generally there appeared no immediate relief as the snow and cold headed for the Midwest and eastern states.

The death toll from weather's onslaught since last Friday rose to above 200. Thousands of persons suffered injuries in falls on icy streets and sidewalks.

Highways throughout the snow-blanketed areas were hazardous for travel. Schools in many areas were closed. The stormy weather hit the sports schedules. There were widespread cancellations of basketball games. Football bowl practice was delayed and yesterday's race program at the Charles Town, West Va., track was called off.

Mrs. William Shirey Awaits Notification

Captain Shirey Was Taken Prisoner in February, '51; Served in Italy During World War 2, Thence to Japan

Notified that her husband's name was among the 3,198 prisoners of war now held by the Chinese Communists in Korea, Mrs. William Shirey of Woodstock is today anxiously awaiting confirmation of the fact from the U. S. Department of Defense.

U. S. Tells Russia Aggressive Actions To Blame for Plans

Middle-East Command Is Result of This, Sharp Note Says—Points Are Cited

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The United States has sharply told Russia that its own "aggressive actions" and its "subversion" against Middle Eastern States are to blame for allied plans to create a Middle-East military command.

Replying to a Soviet protest of Nov. 24 against the allied project, the U. S. cited once-secret negotiations between the Soviet and Nazi German governments in 1940 as evidence of a Russian aim to create a Red sphere of influence in the Middle East.

The U. S. note, made public today, added that Russia's attitude toward that area since the end of World War 2 has led the American government to assume that the aims set forth 11 years ago "remain the policy of the Soviet government."

Complaint Rejected
Britain, France and Turkey, which had simultaneously received Russian protests against the command which they are sponsoring jointly with this country, also rejected the Soviet complaint in notes delivered to the foreign ministry in Moscow yesterday, the department officials said.

While the allied notes were described as different in wording, officials declared they all made the same major points to the Soviet government, and that these points covered:

- 1—Rejection of a Russian assertion that the proposed command would be an aggressive organization.
2. An assertion that far from being aggressive it is based on provisions of the United Nations Charter for collective action in defense and in support of world peace.
3. An accusation that, in the words of the American note, "Soviet threats" to the states of

Her husband, Captain William Shirey, was taken prisoner by the Communists February 13, 1951, in Korea.

In New York today, the Associated Press, queried by The Freeman, reported that a William M. Shirey was among the prisoners listed. The only additional information available on the William M. Shirey was the following: Serial number 0-26635, captain 2 D 2. No address or next of kin was released or available.

The 3,198 names of American prisoners supplied by the Reds account for only a little more than one-fourth of the 11,051 Americans already reported missing in action and Defense Department officials point out that they have nothing but the assurance of the enemy that the 3,198 prisoners are actually alive.

Mrs. Shirey, the former Miss Jane Cleveland, daughter of Mrs. Orestes Cleveland and the late Captain Cleveland, received word last night through other channels that her husband's name was included on the list given by the Communists in Korea to truce negotiators of General Matthew B. Ridgway, Allied Supreme Commander in the Far Eastern conflict.

Served in Italy
Captain Shirey, a graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, served during World War 2 in Italy with the 10th Mountain Division. He was assigned to Japan with the army of occupation and there Captain Shirey's first child, Elizabeth, now two and a half years ago, was born.

The Shireys also have another daughter, one year old, who was born December, 1950, after Captain Shirey left for duty in Korea.

Inquired About Home
In his last letter to his wife before his capture on February 13, Captain Shirey inquired about the possibility of building their own home. In his letter the army officer wrote "Honey, I don't know how we can swing it but if you think you can, go ahead." Mrs. Shirey did and she and her children moved into the new house the latter part of this summer.

Never Doubted Safety
Mrs. Shirey, the former Miss Jane Cleveland, daughter of Mrs. Orestes Cleveland and the late Captain Cleveland, who heard by way of the radio this morning at 7:10 o'clock that her husband's name was listed, never doubted

Telegrams Are Sent to Next of Kin

Officials Say 7,853 Gap Noted in Communist List—Checking Takes Several Days

Accuracy Doubt

Allies Repeat Feeling List Might Not Be Accurate

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The news flashed out from Washington and Tokyo, for thousands the best Christmas present ever, for many other thousands an empty, hollow message of more despair.

The 3,198 names of American warriors, said by the Communists to be prisoners of war in Korean prison camps, were being checked by the Defense Department in "takes" as fast as they arrived from Tokyo.

Special Pentagon forces whipped through the long lists, paired name after name with the official missing-in-action list, rushed telegrams to next-of-kin.

"The secretary of the army has asked me to inform you that the name of (John Doe) believed to be that of your (son, husband, etc.) is included in unverifiable lists released by opposing forces of co-operating names on the list with assurance as to accuracy can be given at this time."

The list of names was little more than one-fourth of the 11,051 Americans officially listed as missing in action.

The Reds said it covered all POW's in their hands.

That left a gap of 7,853, a question mark which only time could answer.

Early this morning the Pentagon was less than a tenth of the way through the tedious job of co-operating names on the list with names of those reported missing.

The work was not being done alphabetically, and it appeared likely to require several days.

As soon as telegrams went to kinfolk the names and addresses were made public, for instant relay over press service wires to the nation's newspapers.

At the same time, the original Red list, without addresses but with serial numbers, rank and organization—information provided by the Communists—hit the wires from Tokyo by way of San Francisco.

Pentagon officials again and again underscored this important fact:

The list was prepared by the Communists—there is no way to verify it is not official. The Reds have not allowed such agencies of the International Red Cross any contact with prisoners.

Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, medal of honor winner, was the biggest name on the list. The 52-year-old hero of Taejon was last seen heading back for Taejon a few hours after the Reds captured it in July, 1950.

Noel Is on List
Also on it was Associated Press photographer Frank Noel, a Pulitzer Prize winner.

Allied officials expressed cautious skepticism over the accuracy of the list. They said it may have been padded with fictitious names to swell the figures—despite the fact the list was disappointingly short. The Pentagon said it would withhold at least for the present any names which don't match its list of missing.

The exchange of lists did not mean exchange of prisoners. That is still being worked on by truce negotiators.

The Reds' list had a total 11,558 names on it. The biggest block was South Korean, then American and the remainder a sprinkling of other nations with forces in Korea.

The Pentagon said the list would not affect in any way the official casualty status of the 8,198 Americans. They will still be carried as missing in action, until returned by the enemy or officially accounted for by an agency like the Red Cross.

Meanwhile, U. S. battle casualties reached a total of 103,000. The latest total, announced yesterday, included 15,692 killed in action.

Spreading Good News

As the long—but happy—list of 3,198 Americans held captive by the Reds in North Korea comes over the wire from Tokyo, these girl typists are tapping out the formal telegrams to be sent to their next of kin. The telegrams, being typed at the War Department in the Pentagon, will spread the good word to parents and wives of the American prisoners. (NEA Telephoto)

Thomson's Laundry Business Will Go To Millbrook Man

Senator Wicks Will Retain Land and Building — Purchased by Wicks in '13

Title will be closed January 12 transferring Thomson's Colonial Laundry to Andrew Helgeson of Millbrook, it was learned today.

The sale of the half-century old business includes the business, good will, machinery, trucks and equipment, but does not include the building and property, according to N. LeVan Haver, attorney for the seller.

Thomson's Colonial Laundry Corporation, of which State Senator Arthur H. Wicks is president, is the seller. The purchaser, Helgeson, is a laundry operator and has indicated that he will continue the business as a laundry. He was represented by Attorney Joseph Simon of New York.

Founded by Orrin Thomson
The laundry was founded by Orrin R. Thomson and was operated by him for many years from 301 Fair street. The exact date of the establishment of the business is not known, but the firm has been in operation since a listing of the company.

Arthur H. Wicks, who later became State Senator and is now Senate Majority Leader, took title to the laundry business on September 1, 1914, and about that time the business was moved to its present location at 243 Clinton avenue. When Senator Wicks purchased Thomson's Laundry, it had two horses and two wagons to deliver its customer's orders. Today it has a fleet of seven trucks. The company was incorporated several years ago.

Financial details of the transaction were not revealed.

Soviet Court Says Two Die As American Saboteur-Spies

Moscow, Dec. 19 (AP)—The Soviet Supreme Court said today that two men with Russian-sounding names have been put to death as American saboteur-spies parachuted into Russia.

The announcement from the military collegium of the court said they were dropped into Russia from an American plane manned by American military officers.

Their names were given as A. I. Osmanov and F. K. Sarantsev. (Michael McDermott, State Department press officer in Washington, said the State Department knows nothing about the incident and said he never heard of two men with those names. (The Russians have accused the

French Are Confident Of New Command

Paris, Dec. 19 (AP)—Encouraged by British support if not alliance, French officials expressed confidence today that they can stitch together a six-country international army with one uniform, one budget and one command.

Two days of talks between French leaders and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill put new force behind France's drive for the European army.

In a joint communique, Churchill withheld Britain from joining the army he has advocated, but promised British troops will be "linked with those of the European defense community for training, supply and operations by land, sea and air."

Island Dock Has 33 Boat Orders

Ferry Contract Signed for Long Island Summer Craft

A steel ferryboat will be built at Island Dock, Inc., it was announced today, to serve the summer colony of Shelter Island, situated in Gardiners Bay at the eastern end of Long Island.

The ferry, with a capacity of nine automobiles, will link the island community with the town of Greenport on the mainland of Long Island. Delivery date has been specified as May 15, 1952.

Size of 'Skilypot'
A spokesman at Island Dock said the boat will be a modern version of the old ferry Riverside, better known as the Skilypot, which crossed the Rondout creek between Kingston and Sloatsburg. (Continued on Page 22, Col. 3)

Reds Claim UN List Is Pointless

Allies Complain Total of 11,559 POWs Too Small—No Formal Protest

Promises Second

UN Group Will Present List in Chinese by Christmas

Munsan, Korea, Dec. 19 (AP)—Exchange of prisoners of war lists brought new strife today for Korean truce negotiators.

The Communists labeled the United Nations list of 132,472 Chinese and Korean prisoners useless.

The Allies complained the Red total of 11,559 POWs was too small.

Truce negotiators made no formal protest. The prisoner of war subcommittee was in recess today. UN delegates in a second subcommittee told the Reds they would not budge an inch on how to supervise the truce until the Communists agree to rotation of troops and behind-the-line inspection to guard against a sneak military buildup.

Communist news correspondents at the Panmunjom truce site said it was impossible to identify Chinese and North Korean troops from the UN list. The names were written in English. Men were not identified by rank, unit or any other way.

Innumerable Spellings
Chinese newsmen pointed out there are innumerable English spellings for any Chinese name; and the English spelling could be translated back into varying combinations of Chinese ideographs.

The UN has promised to supply a list written in Chinese and Korean about Christmas Day. Red China's Peiping radio said the Allies also agreed to identify them by rank and unit as soon as possible after Christmas.

Brig. Gen. William Nuckols, official UN command spokesman said he gave them exactly what was requested from them. He said the UN list was "just a confirmation of information already given the Communists by the Red Cross. The information is readily available to them. Nothing is being withheld."

Nuckols said the Red Cross data "was in the original language, I'm sure."

"We asked for the name, the nationality, the location of their camp and the names of men in each camp," he said.

Information in List
The Red list contained the information plus serial numbers and unit. The Communists supplied the allied names in English.

But there were protests that the 11,559 prisoners listed was far short of the more than 100,000 allied troops missing. The discrepancy is primarily in South Korean troops.

The list of 3,198 Americans and approximately 1,220 other UN Nationals was roughly what was expected, UN command sources said.

But 7,142 South Korean prisoners is only a 1/12 of the number the South Korean Government said were missing.

The government announced it was "shocked beyond words at the appalling discrepancy. We refused to believe the honesty of the Communists."

Red newsmen suggested some captured South Korean soldiers probably were in the North Korean Army now, or had melted away into civilian life.

Atrocities Camouflaged
The South Korean Government statement suggested the Reds were "camouflaging a tremendous number of tragic atrocities or purposely withholding names for some future advantage."

American officers have charged the Reds slaughtered 5,500 to 8,000 of the 11,000 U. S. troops listed as missing in action.

These points could have definite repercussions in the prisoner of (Continued on Page 22, Col. 2)

Wanger to Plead
On December 26th

Beverly Hills, Calif., Dec. 19 (AP)—Producer Walter Wanger will appear in a Santa Monica court the day after Christmas to plead to a charge of assault with intent to murder Jennings Lang, agent for Wanger's wife, Joan Bennett. The Los Angeles county grand jury indicted Wanger, 57, yesterday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. The possible penalty is five to 14 years. Lang, 39, was shot in the groin Thursday night as he stood beside Miss Bennett's car in a parking lot where Wanger had been waiting for them. The producer told police "I shot him because he tried to break up my home." Wanger is at liberty under $5,000 bail.

District Attorney S. Ernest Roll indicated that under the wording of the indictment, a judge or jury could rule out the word "intent" and reduce the charge to felonious assault with a deadly weapon. Either judge or jury also can declare it was only misdemeanor assault.

Meantime, Lang's physicians expressed fear he has developed an infection in the wound which may cause a permanent disability.

Leaves From Boyle's
Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—What can the average guy say about 1951 as it fades into history?

Should he cry into his beer over it, or break into a cheer? Is he any better off? Has the human race inched onward or upward any since 1950?

On the one hand . . . yes. On the other hand . . . question mark. It has been a mixed and indecisive year. For example—True, we avoided a world war in 1951. But we had avoided it in 1950. Are we really further or closer to one now?

True, truce talks began in Korea this year but hope for real peace there flickers on and off, like a bad phone connection. When will it come and can we trust it when it does come? The ground war has become colder, but the air war is hotter than ever.

True, an atom bomb didn't go off in anger this year. We tested some. And the Russians tested some, too. We're building a hydrogen bomb plant. And they're reported building 1,000 new submarines and maybe a hydrogen bomb also.

True, the atom has gone to work to cure disease, but when will the hope it gives outweigh the dread it brings? It wasn't safe in 1951 to remove the identification tags from the wrists of our children. Nor will it be in 1952.

Sure on Prices, Taxes
How about the domestic situation? The statisticians tell us that total personal income has gone up, savings have increased, debts have dropped. Tell that to your neighbor, however, and he is likely to answer, "you can prove anything with statistics." The things he is sure have gone up are prices and taxes.

Scandal had a heyday. It began to look like the only unsubsidized amateur athletes left in America were the checker players in the public parks and the old people who play shuffleboard in sunny Florida.

The government cracked down on bookies. Then the government began to set up machinery to crack down on its own "wrongdoers." Congress initiated more than 100 inquiries of one kind or another. It investigated everything except why the corn crop was lower, and it might have done that except you can't get votes by convicting the weather.

'Ike' Wouldn't Say
Boy, what a confusing year! The five-star generals quarreled about how to conduct the Korean police action, and nobody could tease "Ike" Eisenhower into saying publicly whether he was a Democrat or a Republican.

The traffic problem became worse in the cities where that was still possible. Television reception improved, but the quality of the shows was such that many owners liked the commercials better than the programs.

Scientists said longevity was increasing, although the average man complained he was just getting bald, greyer, or fatter.

Americans Well Off

But Americans, all in all, had better medical care, were better clad, owned more of their homes, and ate higher on the hog than ever before in their history. No other large country in the world fared so well in the realm of man's physical needs—food, clothing and shelter.

For all its troubles, if the United States meets no worse woes than it survived in 1951, it will keep its flag flying for a long, long time.

It was a year when the average man still had more to be thankful for than to complain about.

Expects Record Volume

New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—The volume of Christmas mail at the New York post office this year probably will set a new high record. Postmaster Albert Goldman said today. The post office, covering the Manhattan, Bronx and Pelham areas, handled 159,000,000 pieces of mail between Dec. 1 and last midnight, compared with 157,000,000 in the comparative period last year. Goldman said that by Wednesday the post office will have added 17,000 temporary employees to the regular force of 35,000.

Truck Is Total Loss

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—A trailer truck jack-knifed, overturned and burned after skidding on ice on Baychester avenue, the Bronx, near Gunhill Road last night. The driver, Joseph Perrea, 29, of 89-31 240th street, Bellerose, Queens, was sent home after being treated at Fordham Hospital for shock and lacerations of the right leg. The truck was carrying a cargo of radio equipment when it overturned, causing the gasoline to catch fire. Police pronounced it a total loss.

Hoodlums Take Over
Young Carol Singers

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—Hoodlums are muscling into bands of children singing Christmas carols in public.

Scotland Yard reported today the racketeers have taken over parties of youngsters, averaging about 10 years old, and organized them into "beats." Competitors are chased off.

The children sing carols under lighted windows and householders usually reward them with a shilling (14 cents) or so for their songs. Its an old Christmas tradition in England.

Hearing Is Postponed

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—A hearing to determine whether there is a contract between the CIO Transport Workers Union, and the Third Avenue Transit Corporation was postponed yesterday by Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman until Dec. 27. The hearing was set to determine the existence and terms of a contract said by the Third Avenue to be in existence as the result of conversations held in the office of Mayor Impellitteri last Dec. 29. The union holds that the contract was never renewed. If found to be in existence, the contract would cover a two-year period expiring Dec. 31, 1952.

TEMPTERS MUST SHARE GUILT

It is wholly proper that we should demand the highest moral standards from our public servants. When they enter upon government service, they are assuming a public trust. We who are on the outside looking in may be guilty of a smugness we hardly realize. In our readiness to censure illegal and immoral doings in government, we may be forgetting a few things.

The federal worker who boldly steals from his government, or cheats by failing to pay the full amount of his income tax, is obviously a lone-wolf transgressor. But what of the man who is guilty of parceling out influence, of dispensing federal favors in return for personal favors granted, or of somehow suspending legal penalties that ought to apply?

He has been a party to a deal. And a deal takes at least two to bring it off. There is seldom a granting of influence or favor unless someone is seeking.

In all such cases, therefore, does not a large share of blame for the wrongdoing fall upon the outsider who has successfully brought pressure on government officials? His responsibility may be less than equal, since he does not bear a public trust, but he is nevertheless seriously at fault.

In some ways he may be more culpable, for he is the tempter in all too many instances, the one who begins the effort to corrupt. This does not excuse the weakness of the government official who yields; in the end there would be no corruption if his resolve and sense of moral duty were firm. But it does make the tempter something short of an ideal citizen.

The shameful tax scandals and the countless other evidences of government corruption that have been brought to light in the past year are thus two-sided coins. On their face, they depict the evil of men who have either deliberately or ignorantly misused public office. On their reverse side they show the corrupting instincts of men in the business community and other spheres who shrewdly calculate the frailty of government workers on limited pay and similar restrictions and play upon those soft spots.

There can be no apology for the easily tempted. But neither can there be forgiveness for those who try to take advantage of these weaknesses to the grave detriment of public morals and the ideals of democratic government. Let the blame fall upon all those who should shoulder it.

TERRIBLE TERMITES

A young man sleeping in a log cabin in the Canadian woods last summer heard what he thought was a mouse rattling around in the log wall. He made a perfunctory search two or three nights in succession and could find no place where a mouse could be. He then made an outside daylight study of the old logs near his bed. He found that termites had cut their tunnels through a log and so weakened it, that mice were indeed making a runway inside the log. The structure, which its owners had hoped would last at least another generation, is doomed and a very few years will see its end. The logs are about ten inches square in cross-section, put together with strong mortar, but for the termites they could have lasted another hundred years.

A family in Minneapolis bought a house built in the nineties, apparently sound as the Constitution. When it came time to paint it, termites were found at work on a back porch. It and part of the wall had to be rebuilt. Texas ranks first in the country in termite devastation and Ohio next, but no one knows where the next batch of termite tubes will be found. Hardly a region is exempt.

Spot treatments with chemicals help a little for a time. Permanent control requires impregnation of wood barriers when the structure is being built. The devastation wrought by these little creatures is almost beyond belief. The builder of a new home should look to this matter in time. The buyer should also watch out. Men of experience in extermination can spot the small villains by their work.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE RETURN OF EISENHOWER

It is generally accepted that General Dwight Eisenhower will resign from NATO on February 21 and will return to the United States. That date will mark the first anniversary of his assumption of the supreme command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It is generally assumed that by March 1, General Eisenhower will be back at Columbia University and will declare himself to be a candidate for the nomination for President as a Republican. There seems to be no prospect of General Eisenhower being a Democratic candidate under any circumstances.

Two problems face General Eisenhower in this connection. 1. As architect of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, he must assume responsibility for its success or failure. In the event that he can report success, criticism will not be possible of his leaving the task before it is completed. He can say that he started it; that it got off to a good start; and that he can leave it in good hands while he runs for President.

On the other hand, if the course of events shows that NATO is a flop, then he will have to assume responsibility for leaving so great a venture hanging in the air.

2. European cooperation with the United States in NATO is of such a character that it may become a serious campaign issue. The plan has been that this is not to be another Korea; that there will be genuine manpower cooperation among the nations composing NATO.

But we discover that Great Britain is not providing additional troops for NATO. Churchill is either playing cagey, that is, he is holding up cooperation until he gets more dollars here, or he is actually, in the face of troubles in Egypt, Burma, Malaya and other places, cannot commit Great Britain any further.

Equally, France can afford no more commitments than are at present available. The French insist that they spend as much on the defense of Indo-China as they get out of the Marshall Plan. Also, the French are making no profits out of their colony.

So, Eisenhower will have to depend upon western Germany, which is being supported financially by the United States. The burden of German rearmament—12 divisions—for the first year has been estimated at $14,000,000,000. The NATO power, he already estimated, $45,000,000,000. American aid will be essential for the next three years.

The question arises whether the German people will stand for 12 divisions to be used by NATO without important benefits accruing to the German people. For instance, will western Germany agree to remilitarization, in the face of probable Russian reprisals, without full acceptance of the economic rehabilitation of Germany?

So far only the Americans are providing important air power. Can NATO provide sufficient air power to neutralize Russian air power? In what plans and budgets of any nation, including the United States, is anything being said about the extent and capacity of the Russian air arm and the great lack of a competitive campaign? These General Vandenberg made a statement on the subject and we witness the astonishing Russian build-up and performance in Korea. But what of the plans for neutralizing Russian air power?

The problem then that faces General Eisenhower is that he will have to report that the United States has been let down by our European allies and has to depend upon the remilitarization of Germany, which France fears as much as Russia objects to it. The cost of the entire proposition must fall on the American taxpayer at a time when the aforesaid taxpayer is becoming more conscious of taxes, waste and futility than ever before.

Then General Eisenhower is out of uniform, in the gift and take of a competitive campaign, the problems will be thrown at him for answers. He may have the answers, in which case his candidacy will be strengthened. He may not have the answers, in which case his reputation may suffer.

He will be asked:
1. How many American troops will NATO require?
2. How does that compare with the contributions of other countries, particularly Great Britain and France?
3. How much money will the American taxpayer have to contribute to NATO?
4. How will that compare with the contribution of other countries, particularly Great Britain and France?
5. How much American sovereignty have we sacrificed?
6. How does that compare with the sacrifices of other countries, particularly Great Britain and France?

The Korean fiasco raises issues not only of competent planning by our military politicians but also to the sincerity of their public pronouncements. (Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HEART FAILURE

A middle-aged man, working hard mentally and physically, had a "heart attack" and was ordered to bed for several weeks. He was greatly surprised and asked his physician if he had had a coronary thrombosis. The physician said no. "Then why am I ordered to bed for several weeks?" The physician told him that he had been working so hard that his heart was tired and needed a rest and that the ideal way of resting his heart was to lessen or lighten the amount of work the heart had to do. The heart has to do some work because the blood must carry oxygen and food to all the cells of the body and remove waste from these cells. Being up and on the feet and walking around requires five times as much work out of the heart as when lying down resting, and standing and sitting two to three times as much work. It can be readily seen that an individual used to being up and around on his feet can certainly rest his tired heart by putting the least possible amount of effort on it.

What causes heart failure or tiredness of the heart? Heart failure occurs when too much load is put on it or when the reserve strength of the muscles of the heart will begin to weaken. This loss or lowering of reserve strength of the heart muscle can be brought about by various drugs and certain diseases of mankind.

In Clinical Problems of Advancing Years, Dr. Tinsley R. Harrison, Professor of Medicine, Medical College of Alabama, states that "our effective measures of treating heart failure act either by increasing the muscular strength of the heart or decreasing its load. Digitalis and digitalis preparations represent our own means of strengthening the muscular power of the heart."

The old illustration of the strength of a bridge is applicable to heart failure. A bridge built to carry ten tons can, though weakened by age and erosion, safely carry five tons for a number of years.

In summarizing, Dr. Harrison states that "we know little about the aging process in the heart muscle. The mechanical alterations occurring within a few hours in the heart removed from the body are similar to those which occur over a period of many decades in the heart beating in the body."

We can all see, then, the logic of the physician's treatment of heart failure; he decreases the load of work of the heart by complete bed rest, which lessens the load both in arteries and veins, and he strengthens the muscle fibers of the heart by digitalis and its various preparations.

Do you get out of breath easily? Does your heart seem to skip beats? Write today for Dr. Barton's interesting booklet on the subject entitled "Why Worry About Your Heart?" It Would Be Too Bad if That Storm Overtook Them

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note—This is another of Drew Pearson's penetrating columns on the subject uppermost in the nation's mind—graft in the collection of income taxes.)

Washington—Almost every administration when it first takes office uses a new broom when it comes to tax evasion. It cleans up at the expense of the administration which preceded it. Then it leans on the broom.

Part of this broom-cleaning, of course, is because the graft it would have to clean out later is its own graft; and the clean-up would hurt people in high places. Thus, just as Roosevelt came into office, an important start was made toward a tax-fraud clean-up. Actually, it was started by Republican Progressive Senators Blaine of Wisconsin and Brookhart of Iowa two months before Roosevelt was inaugurated, but continued by FDR with the prosecution of Andrew Mellon, the man entrusted with collecting taxes under Hoover and Coolidge; and of Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank. A total of $6,367,137 was also collected from Benedict Trees, the Pittsburgh oil millionaire, and public attention was called to the legal tax-dodging schemes of James Forrestal and various J. P. Morgan partners.

Today, Washington has the famed Mellon Art Gallery because the former secretary of the treasury realized he would have to win public support with a magnificent gesture if he were to escape criminal prosecution for tax evasion.

Following this tax clean-up, the Roosevelt administration settled down to a long period of reasonably honest tax-collecting. There were some tax cases fixed in Roosevelt's day to be discussed in a later column. But eager-beaver Henry Morgenthau made such a squawk about them that even FDR was reluctant to arouse Henry's ire.

Morgenthau's Tax System
Following this tax clean-up, the Roosevelt administration settled down to a long period of reasonably honest tax-collecting. There were some tax cases fixed in Roosevelt's day to be discussed in a later column. But eager-beaver Henry Morgenthau made such a squawk about them that even FDR was reluctant to arouse Henry's ire.

Furthermore, Morgenthau built up the most efficient tax-collecting system this country had ever seen. His counsel of internal revenue was Robert Jackson, who did such an outstanding job that he was later elevated to the Supreme Court; while the chief of his intelligence unit was an incorruptible old tyrant named Elmer Irey.

In Jackson's old place, Truman appointed weakling Charles Olin, recently a pathetic witness before the King Committee; and in Irey's place he appointed W. H. Woolf, honest but not vigilant.

As commissioner of internal revenue, Truman appointed a mediocre named George Schoeneman, who previously had been mixed up in a matter which could not bear the light of day; while as deputy commissioner he appointed Dan Bolich, who, when he took the oath of office, received so many flowers that the swearing-in ceremony looked like a gangster's funeral. Obviously a lot of people were overjoyed that Bolich should be collecting taxes, and some of them later turned out to be gangsters.

All these appointments were made after Bob Hannagan, friend of the big-city bosses, took over the Democratic National Committee and the political fortunes of Harry Truman.

Sacrosanct Frankie Costello
When Hannagan was promoted from commissioner of internal revenue to national chairman, he appointed as his successor Joseph Numan, who had been collector in New York. Numan, in turn, retired Hugh McQuillen, forthright chief of the New York intelligent unit, replacing him with Dan Bolich. In this key spot Bolich had the power of tax life or death over big-shot gamblers, big business, or anyone else in New York.

Later, Numan stepped out to practice law, leaving behind him his friend Dan Bolich, who became deputy commissioner in Washington—the No. 2 spot for collecting the taxes of the entire nation.

Among Numan's clients, incidentally, were the night-club owners of New York, which includes the king of gamblers, Frankie Costello.

At about this time, also, Harry Anslinger, narcotics commissioner, was watching Costello for possible connection with the dope racket; but, because of his limited staff, he had the help of 12 internal revenue agents. This was a natural cooperation, since both narcotics and revenue are under the Treasury.

But suddenly Bolich demanded that the 12 revenue men be taken off the Costello assignment. Anslinger protested, but it did no good.

I had been following Costello for some time, and reported Bolich's lack of interest in Costello to Tom Clark, then attorney general, who promised to see that the agents were kept on Costello.

However, the Justice Department has not even moved to deport Costello for perjury in connection with his naturalization; meanwhile, Bolich played a part in delaying prosecution of one of the biggest gambling cases—The Guaranty Finance Company of California.

Shot Morale
Naturally, all this makes for discouragement among the many tax agents whose job it is to collect the nation's taxes. Backbone of the tax organization is the intelligence unit, made up of some of the highest type men in Internal Revenue. It is their job to detect fraud. These men are trained in the rules of evidence and know their business.

When they have finished an investigation and when their recommendation for prosecution has been OK'd by the senior special agent and the special agent in charge of a division, it is almost inconceivable that they have recommended prosecution of an innocent man. Yet during the Truman administration about 60 per cent of the tax-fraud cases later have been quashed in one of three places:

1. The chief counsel's office under Charles Olin, now resigned.
2. The Justice Department's Tax Division, under Lamar Caudle, also resigned.
3. U. S. attorney's offices in different parts of the U. S. A. The details of how this has been done will be told in a subsequent column. But meanwhile discouragement and frustration has spread through the ranks of the many honest tax collectors and special agents as never before.

One agent in the field can collect about $80 for every dollar spent on his salary and expenses—one of the biggest untapped sources of revenue in the nation. Yet, thanks to politics and corruption at the top, we have started on the path of the tax-evading nations of Europe where failure to collect taxes is the first step toward inequality and eventually communism.

Clearing of Service Indicates Something Is Wrong Inside Department of State

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 18—Something seems to be wrong inside the Department of State in the handling of loyalty and security cases.

Explanation was obtained today from an authoritative source of a little-noticed paragraph in the United States Loyalty Review Board's report on the case of John S. Service, recently dismissed from the Department of State because of reasonable doubts as to his loyalty to the United States government.

The paragraph in question reveals that, despite the presence of an F. B. I. report, and despite the fact that copies of 40 documents written by Service for the State Department were discovered through an F. B. I. raid on the offices of suspected Communist editors, no hearing was held, and yet Service was cleared.

The text of the paragraph reads as follows:

"The undersigned panel of the Loyalty Review Board first took up this case (case of John Stewart Service) on November 1, 1950, on March 3, 1950, recommended that it be remanded to the Loyalty Security Board of the State Department for a hearing on charges. Subsequently a hearing was held, and the State Department was asked to submit its decision favorable to the employee."

What is most surprising is that Service was cleared by the State Department board without a hearing some time between March, 1947, when the President's loyalty program was instituted, and March, 1950, no interrogatory were made and no interrogatory presented to him. Yet the State Department is known to have "cleared" Service six times in all—the last time July 31, 1951.

The State Department has given no explanation of its failure to prefer charges against Service until pressed to do so by the national board—the Loyalty Review Board. In the formal report issued last week by the State Department occurs the following implied admission that it was not required to check Service at a hearing before:

"The case of John Stewart Service, on which the Loyalty Security Board of the Department of State had reported a favorable determination based on March 1950, no interrogatory was made and no interrogatory presented to him. Yet the State Department is known to have 'cleared' Service six times in all—the last time July 31, 1951.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Saugerties, Dec. 18—The Saugerties Lions Club held its Christmas party at the PVI Monday evening with 10 boys as guests.

They were presented with gifts. Those having charge were Steve Stycos, Raymond Mooney, Peter Stoly, John Sauer, Robert Shapiro, Joseph Rose, Joseph Crotty, Gabriel Vozdik and Albert Giannotti.

Miss Rose Sullivan and Miss Virginia Parker of New York were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Frisbie in this town. Members of the Parent-Teacher Association held their Christmas party in the school auditorium. There was a program of entertainment, also a musical quiz program that was won by Mrs. Douglas Swart. Later, carol singing was enjoyed under the supervision of Miss Van Brocklin with Miss Marilyn Slade as accompanist.

Officers for Ulster Lodge 193 for 1952 will be Lewis Wilson of Woodstock, master; Richard Letzette, senior warden; Percy Abeel, treasurer; Clarence Hallenbeck, Stoly, John Sauer, Robert Shapiro, Joseph Rose, Joseph Crotty, Gabriel Vozdik and Albert Giannotti.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goethius were guests of the 4-H Club Leadership in their winter in the Reformed Church at Hurley and Mr. Goethius was presented with a 13-year certificate of his work for this organization.

Capt. William Van Buskirk of Partition street has arrived home after 14 months' service in Korea. He will spend his furlough with his wife and daughter on the Saugerties-Woodstock road.

Thirty-two members and four guests attended the Christmas party of the Saugerties evening unit of the Home Bureau in the municipal building on the street. Gifts were exchanged and games played. Carol singing was under the direction of Mrs. Theresa Nau. The next meeting will be held on January 7. All new members will be welcome.

The Centerville Fire company Auxiliary will hold its annual Christmas party on Saturday evening, Dec. 22, in the fire hall at 8 o'clock.

Announcement has been made of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. James Mackey. The should be held on charges. In accordance with this recommendation charges were preferred against Mr. Service and a hearing has been held.

Just why from June 6, 1945—when Service was arrested along with other persons in the "Amerasia" case—until March, 1950, no charges were preferred against him and no hearing was held inside the State Department so that he could be formally interrogated on the data supplied by the F. B. I., is a mystery which has not been explained. Nor is there any explanation as to why after five years "the record has not been fully developed" and no hearing held to develop that record.

The episode casts suspicion on the manner in which loyalty cases have been handled in the Department of State. Were it not for the "post-audit" procedure set up to check the departmental boards, things of this kind could escape attention altogether. The President's instructions specifically require that interrogatories should be presented to any one about whom there has been collected any derogatory information concerning loyalty.

Incidentally, some misleading statements have appeared in the press in the last few days purporting to say that the Loyalty Review Board has ordered a "re-opening of the loyalty cases of 365 Federal employees," and that these cases were to be checked "in the light of the government's new policy that a 'reasonable doubt' is sufficient to bar employment."

The foregoing was contained in a press release on Dec. 17 by the United States Civil Service Commission which said that announcement of the order was made today.

Now the truth is that the President's order was issued on May 1 last, changing the wording about "reasonable doubt" back to what it was under President Roosevelt during World War 2. Also, last May, the Loyalty Review Board announced that it estimated that 846 cases would be definitely reopened, and told the departmental agencies to take another look at about 8,000 cases in which the F. B. I. had carried on full field investigations.

The policy is not new nor is the procedure. All that is new is that the Loyalty Review Board has now cut the number of cases to be "reopened" from 846 down to 746, and the number to be scrutinized again from 8,889 down to 574. The latter group are not necessarily to be formally reopened. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Christmas Boxes

Pago Pago, Samoa (AP)—School children of American Samoa have sent 49 Christmas boxes filled with specimens of island handicraft to school youngsters in America. One of the boxes was sent to an elementary school in each of the state capitals and the District of Columbia. The boxes are made of pandanus leaf and each contains a woven lady's purse, a handbag, Samoan cowrie shells, a seashell necklace and a floor mat. A poster depicting a Samoan life and painted by the children accompanies each box along with a letter conveying holiday greetings from Samoa to America.

Survey Being Made On Price Raises

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—The government is undertaking a survey of grocery stores' costs and profits to determine whether retail food dealers are entitled to raise prices. Spokesmen have asked for a general increase, contending their costs have increased. The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) announced yesterday it has mailed survey forms to 1,500 representative food stores. A more thorough study will be made next year, OPS said.

Representatives of retailers met with OPS officials Dec. 7 and reported that present ceilings are too low. They asked permission to increase their allowable profit margin from the present 20 percent to 22.

"Finally, the player at my right melded the following cards from his hand: K-K-K-Joker Q-Q-2."

"He discarded a six, which was quite safe, since everybody had been throwing them. The six was certainly no good to me, so I drew from the stock pile and then held: A-A K-K-K Q-J 4-4 2-2."

"What is my best discard? I can't throw a king or queen, of course. If I throw an ace, jack, or four, I may give the pack away. If I throw a deuce, I give up the count. Assuming the aces, jacks, and fours are about equally unsafe, what is my best choice?"

The best course is to discard a deuce, freezing the pack. This does not entirely give up the count, but it would be correct play even if it did. As it happens, however, you will still be able to pick up the pack if the right hand opponent discards an ace or jack.

This is comparatively unimportant, because you will probably have to begin discarding your kings very soon, and then your count may disappear for a long time. This is too bad, but it cannot be helped. Your first duty is to defend a really large pack. You will probably be able to find safe discards for the next five plays in the deuce, the three kings, and perhaps the queen. By that time, you may have new safe discards, and you may have improved your hand with a joker, another ace, or something of that sort.

You have a chance to win the pack from the right hand opponent, who has only four cards in his hand. Perhaps your partner will win the pack. Or perhaps the opponents will go out quickly without winning the pack.

There are many possibilities, but your best chance to come out of this with a whole skin is to freeze the pack at once rather than make a dangerous discard.

Movie in India

Bombay, India (AP)—The life of India's Joan of Arc will provide the plot for an English-language color motion picture filmed in this country. American and Indian technicians have joined in the Minerva Movietone Company's production of the life of the Rani of Jhansi, who gave her life in the anti-British rebellion of 1857. The Hindu princess, legend runs, fought sword-in-hand mounted on horseback during the rebellion. Faithful subjects burned her remains after her death, lest the foreigners touch her Brahminic body.

Program of License Perpetuation Begins

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—To save scarce metals needed in the defense program, the government and the states have agreed on a program to make 1951 or 1952 automobile license plates do indefinitely.

The National Production Authority (NPA) said yesterday that in 27 states the last new plates motorists will get for the time being are those for 1952 and in 21 states the 1951 plates will be used through 1952. In both instances, small tags or clips will be issued to bring them up to date.

After licenses are issued next year, allocations to make them will be cut by 80 per cent, NPA said. Some 36,000 tons of steel and aluminum were used in plates for about 52 million autos this year.

Vincent Questioned

Washington, Dec. 19 (AP)—John Carter Vincent, a career diplomat who has been a repeated target of Senator McCarthy (R-Wisc.) in pressing his charges of communism in government, is being questioned by a State Department Loyalty-Security Board. It was disclosed late yesterday that Vincent, now on leave as consul general at Tangier, appeared on Monday before a panel of the board. It reportedly is sifting scattered allegations against Vincent made over the past several years. A former chief of the State Department's Division of Far Eastern Affairs, Vincent had a hand in the shaping of the controversial U. S. policy toward post-war China. He is due to testify next month before a Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security headed by Senator McCarran (D-Nev.).

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

ONCE AROUND THE SUN

By Brooks Atkinson

This is a day-by-day story of a single year in the life of the author, of things seen or remembered from his Riverside Drive apartment; from his office in Times Square or from his country home in the Catskills. Each day is treated to a light-hearted, adventure into eternity. The people, the scenes, the activities in the great city of which Mr. Atkinson writes are mostly those which pass unnoticed by the teeming crowds; he picks them out and brings them into sharp focus for the reader to see and appreciate. The toilers in the subway, in the draughty newsstands, on the tug boats, in shops, those whom we with American arrogance call "foreigners" simply because they are shown to be human—no better and no worse than average.

His philosophy about daily events is well worth study. His bits of history about the legal and religious holidays all through the year present a clear picture of what America is made of. He nearly bursts with pride of citizenship on Election Day which he spends at his country home, casting his vote at Odd Fellows Hall with his wife scrupulously cancelling each other's choice, and then joining the happy, noisy crowd outside for exultant conversation.

His opinion of what the Jews and Colored People of New York do for the city is unusual and just. What he thinks about smart, formal cocktail parties will forever discourage would-be hostesses of such affairs.

He shows equal zest for city and country life. Descriptions of happenings on the Hudson river at all seasons are most intriguing. Ice floes in the river; the busy gulls; visits with a tugboat captain, doing at Pier 43, foot of Barrow street; shad fishing; the berthing of the Queen Elizabeth, the deep, musical roar of fog horns, to name a few.

From May to November most of the entries are about life in the country. There is much about gardening, carpentering, deep enjoyment of the beauties of nature, especially the birds of which he knows a great deal; congenial neighbors and casual visitors; loafing in the village store; watching a retired ship's carpenter tinker with wood and tools expertly and contentedly and many other small joys. Celebrating Thanksgiving as nearly as possible like those of his boyhood—then sadly closing the house for the winter.

The birth dates of great men bring forth anecdotes about them. Other dates recall stirring events such as the founding of the

Bayonne Advised To Boil Water

Bayonne, N. J., Dec. 19 (AP)—This city of 80,000 residents boiled its drinking water today after a health department warning there might be danger of contamination. The warning was issued last night by city Health Officer Edward Luppini shortly after a water main break cut off potable water supplies to Bayonne for more than seven hours. Luppini said city health officials are making tests of the water supply. An announcement will be made tomorrow on whether the water has been found fit, he added. Until the announcement is made, he said, all drinking water should be boiled. Police reported no serious emergency as a result of the failing water supplies.

Do You Remember
By SOPHIE MILLER

J. A. Simpson, who will retire on January 16 from the New York Central System after completing some 46 years and six days of continuous employment with the railroad, having started work on January 9, 1906, has sent me a short summary not only of his work but also of the railroad during those years. It is seldom that I receive such concise information many years in that particular line of work. For instance he tells when he was appointed freight agent at Cornwall, back in October 1909 the tunnel under the Hudson river was being bored and shafts were being sunk for the conveying of water from the Shokan Reservoir to New York city. At the time the Central and West Shore were doing an enormous business in handling freight and passengers. The greater portion of freight business was anthracite coal. In those days they were using the old type Mother Hubbard steam engines on which the engineer and fireman were in separate cabs.

In the summer months these railroads ran a great many passenger trains from Weehawken, N. J., over the West Shore R.R. to Cornwall, over which road they had trackage rights and thence over their own road to points as far as Roscoe, N. Y., and the Ellenville-Kingston branch. In those days, there were no automobiles and people used trains which were of the old wooden type coaches, being hot in summer time, there being no air conditioning then.

Much anthracite coal was handled by these railroads from mines near Scranton, Pa., to Cornwall, N. Y., at which point they operated coal docks. From here the coal was transferred to boats for points about New York city and along the Atlantic coast from New York to Boston, Mass. They owned two tugs the "Ontario" and "Western" with which they hauled the barges of coal.

Some of this information may be too technical for the average reader, yet much of it is understandable to anyone and everyone who ever saw or rode on a train. I wouldn't be a bit surprised that the time has come, with so many families having a car, that children 10 or 12 years old have never been on a train. When they have to go somewhere Papa takes them in the family car or they get a ride in someone else's. That seems strange, but it is true. Ask the average child, and see what answer you get. They know what the choo-choo train looks like and what kind of noise it makes, but the inside is a mystery to them.

Mr. Simpson writes that in the days of 1900 to 1910 the West Shore ran quite a number of passenger trains each direction, some of which ran through between Weehawken, N. J., and Buffalo, N. Y. The freight trains in those days were operated with small type 1500 and 1700 and 1800 type steam engines, which handled from 25 to 30 carloads. The freight cars were of 60,000 pound capacity. The present type of engine, which is being changed from steam to Diesel, will handle freight trains of as many as 165 cars and the capacity of cars run from 80,000 pounds to 200,000 pounds.

I remember back in the late 1920's, when I came up for the holidays from the Grand Central Station I always worried if the "Big Ferry" was running. Many times the ferry would wade through rivers of floating ice. The passengers would stand outside and watch the men with long poles push the ice away.

The first clash between Italian and Ethiopian soldiers occurred at or near Wai Wai on the disputed frontier of Italian Somaliland Dec. 9, 1935.

Tercentennial Is Governor Clinton's Decorating Theme

Ever mindful of Kingston's Tercentennial celebration in 1952, the Governor Clinton Hotel has incorporated this theme in its holiday decorating scheme. Over the huge pillars are to be seen the Dutch words Vrede Op Aarde meaning Peace on Earth. Also, in keeping with the forthcoming celebration, the permanent guests at the hotel were given a Dutch tea party last Sunday on the occasion of the annual Christmas party. The party decorations featured the church, since, it was said by Mrs. Raymond Gross, the city was built around the church. Another appropriate custom will be followed at the hotel on Christmas Eve when the Girl Scouts will light candles on the tables in the dining room. (Freeman Photo)

Seven Privates Are Guilty of Mutiny

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—An army general court martial today pronounced seven young army privates guilty of mutiny and riot in a guardhouse disorder on Governors Island last Sept. 17. They face possible maximum sentences of death.

The guilty verdicts were returned after the nine-officer court had deliberated three hours.

The defendants range from 18 to 21 years of age.

The maximum penalty for mutiny is death. For riot military statutes provide a maximum of 10 years in prison, to be followed by a dishonorable discharge.

Before sentence is passed the defense is entitled to present mitigation testimony arguing for lighter sentences.

Low on Dutchess Road

Albany, Dec. 19 (AP)—The State Public Works Department announced today that a low bid of $775,000 had been received from J. J. Poughkeepsie, for reconstruction of 2.48 miles of Route 9 between Rhinebeck and Staatsburg in Dutchess county.

SCRAP ON ITS WAY—A powerful electro-magnetic crane hoists blocks of scrap, weighing about 400 pounds each, onto a railroad car in Newark, N. J. The scrap, pressed into squares by a giant crusher, is on its way to a steel mill. Shortages of such scrap in the nation's steel mills have caused great concern among government production authorities.

Police Warning Has Desired Effect on Motorists in Storm

State police today reported highways in good shape following a snow, rain and sleet storm Tuesday which left approximately three inches of snow throughout the area.

The severity of the storm Tuesday cut highway traffic to a minimum and slowed down those on the roads. There were no serious accidents reported.

State police had issued a warning that only necessary traffic use highways and this warning was widely observed.

Roads Cleared
The county highway department had equipment out last night clearing roads and many of them today were in good shape. On heavily used routes however trucks packed down the snow and made "bumpy" travel.

Route 9W north of Kingston was reported "practically clear" this morning and Route 209 was in good shape. Secondary roads were rough and traffic was warned again today to use caution.

Both the Kingston state police station and the Highland station reported no accidents due to the storm although there were numerous tie-ups due to stalled vehicles Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Removal Continues
Work of removing packed snow from highways was being continued today by county equipment.

In the city snow removal equipment was put into use in the business areas but most streets were covered with a hard packed snow covering which slowed down traffic and made going on grades difficult.

Expensive Penny

Sydney, Australia (AP)—A penny costs more than a penny to make in Australia. The Royal Mint has been making pennies and half-pennies at a loss for two years, mint officials disclosed. The main reason is the rising cost of copper. One mint official said: "The copper in a penny is worth a fraction more than the currency value of the coin." But don't think the mint is about to go out of business. It still makes a one pound note (worth 240 pennies) for less than one penny.

Long Job

It has been estimated that it will take astronomers a 100 years to decipher the photographic plates being made in the sky survey now underway at the Palomar Observatory in California.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—Buyers focused their attention on a few individual stocks today and encouraged a general advance in the market.

Fractional plus signs were numerous, and the top stocks were up between 1 and 2 points. Virtually every major group participated.

The market started quietly steady, and it picked up speed on the rise which got well under way the second hour.

Standard Oil (NJ) was up more than a point at a new high for the year. It was active from the beginning and apparently encouraged buying elsewhere.

U. S. Steel was active and fractionally higher, the best actor in the generally higher steel group.

Chrysler was another issue much sought after, but other motors didn't do so well.

Goodrich was in the same spot in the rubber group, although other rubbers were up major fractions.

In the two other sessions this week the market has been narrowly mixed and quiet. Today's was the first upside nibble of definite character for around two weeks.

Higher were Texas Co., Santa Fe, Republic Steel, Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, Kennecott Copper, American Cyanamid, Eastman Kodak, American Can, and General Electric.

Loading Shed Is Damaged by Fire At Callanan's

A hoisting shed used for loading barges at the Callanan Road Improvement Co., South Rondout, was damaged by a fire which started at about 10 a. m. today.

Machinery, cables and loading equipment were destroyed in the blaze. It started in a lower part of the shed which is of wooden frame construction covered with sheet metal.

The fire was one of the hottest confronting area firemen in some time. Flames raged high over the structure during its early stages as the inside wood burned rapidly.

Barge Is Moved
One of the company's barges docked near the loading platform was moved away from the fire by a tug of the Reliance Marine Transport & Construction Corp., 615 Abel street.

Men of the Port Ewen Fire Department battled the blaze with Clean Jump, assistant chief, in charge. They were assisted by men and equipment from Cornell station in Kingston.

The Cornell pumper was used to draw water from the Rondout creek. This fed a line of hose laid by the Port Ewen company. A small hose line which was part of the road company's regular equipment was also used on the blaze.

The intense heat buckled and shifted the metal siding and lower parts of it were left hanging from the inner structure when the fire was quenched.

Mutual Aid Call

The local fire department received a mutual aid call at 10:10 a. m., and dispatched the Cornell pumper to the scene. Firemen were still at the scene at 1:15 p. m., but the blaze was considered under control by that time.

Assistant Chief Jump of the Port Ewen company said that nothing definite was determined as to origin of the blaze, but it might have started from the explosion of a salamander stove.

The fire left the structure in such condition that it can be considered a total loss, Jump said. An estimate of the damage was not available, but it is expected that it will be many thousands of dollars, he said. One piece of machinery in the building weighed more than five tons and it was destroyed with the rest of the equipment.

Riches Elusive in Britain

Harrogate, England (AP)—No Briton going into business these days has much chance of making a fortune, Sir Patrick Hamilton, chairman of a group of engineering companies, told a conference here. Addressing the British Institute of Management, Sir Patrick said about the only chance of getting into the big money is to seek a career in something new—avoiding large concerns whether nationalized or private enterprise. Living standards of top executives in Britain today, he said, are somewhere around that of a junior manager in pre-war days.

Kingston Has More Snow This Year

The city has had four and a half inches more snow in November and in December to date this year than in 1950 according to records of the city engineer's office.

The total depth of three snowstorms to date this year is 13 inches as against 9 1/2 inches last year.

County and city snow removing equipment was still active today clearing streets and roads of the approximately six inches of snow which fell yesterday only four days after another storm of equal depth.

Traffic was hampered to some extent by yesterday's storm, but travel generally was no more hazardous than after the storm last week. Some streets and roads were sun suppers this morning and sanding crews were out early. The mercury, meanwhile, has not been above freezing during any day since 6 p. m. on Dec. 12. The snow did not stop work today on the Broadway crossing project.

ECA Information Units

Saigon, Indochina (AP)—A fleet of Italian-built sound trucks is carrying the word of truth to the people in the rice paddies, jungle-covered mountains and villages of Indochina. These, called mobile information units, are operated as part of America's ECA program in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

IN COUNTY GRANGES

Service and Hospitality Committees in Granges are going to just that during 1952: full of "hospitality" and with emphasis on "service". Under the firm and able guiding hand of Mrs. Ola Scudder, of Fleischmanns, N. Y., S & H gals are headed for a job. If some of you ladies took appointments to these committees with the idea that you were going to sit back and watch, we suggest you revise your plans and get new lifts on your heels. Backed by the high-purpose theme of "Loyalty to God, to Country and to High Ideals." There will be an essay contest on "My Obligation to My Country"—250 words, and every Grange member eligible. The Sewing Contest is fully explained in the 1952 S & H Handbooks, which will be in the mails before Christmas. There's a new project, something about patchwork quilts, which you will be interested in. The Baking Contest will be on "cinnamon rolls" and our mouth is watering already. Mrs. Scudder, ably assisted by state chairmen Mrs. Charles Arnold, of Bergen, and Mrs. Floyd Wilnot, of Poolville, plan to contribute to the Oliver Hazard Kelley Home by selling Grange histories, and to aid in rebuilding the Charlton Protestant School for delinquent boys which burned at Ballston Spa last spring. As if that weren't enough, their ambitious project for placing official roadside signs on the highway approaches to every one of the 895

Granges in the state will be launched this coming year. You had better get started on that last project first or you'll find Ola Scudder in your neighborhood with a hammer and nails putting them up herself! She's that kind of a hard-working, earnest person. We predict great things for the S & H whiz-kids in 1952!

Santa Claus just drove in the yard on top of a seven-inch snowfall and tells us we're going to have a real, old-fashioned Christmas. He wants us to pass along his Best Wishes for a Happy Holiday to all our many, many Grange friends, and to our Editors, Publishers and members of the staff all over the state and in Canada. Those are our sentiments, too, and we have asked Santa to give everyone's heartfelt wishes to the boys in Korea and all the other outposts of liberty and humanity. God rest ye, merrie gentlemen!

Is Returned for Trial
Baltimore, Dec. 19 (AP)—George F. Ross was returned to Cleveland today to face a charge of slaying a policeman. The 27-year-old west coast burglar and car thief waived extradition to Ohio and accompanied by two Cleveland detectives boarded a train here last night. Ross, hunted for three days in the most intensive search in Maryland history was arrested Monday, four days after the search was called off, as he hitchhiked along a highway south of Baltimore. He is wanted in Cleveland for the slaying Dec. 8 of Traffic Patrolman Forney L. Haas who had gone to Ross' rooming house to check on his driver's license.

Community Center Dance Set Saturday

The Community Center, formerly B'nai B'rith, will hold its first public function Saturday, Dec. 22, when it will present a dance in accordance with the festive nature of Hanuka. Featured among the entertainers will be the Joey Vigna trio, popular dance band of local and TV fame, which is also well known as a promising recording band, and the talented young singing star, Tony Amato, who delighted the Thanksgiving Ball audience with his captivating renditions of several popular tunes.

Tickets may be obtained either from David Badian, chairman, or at the Community Center, 285 Wall street, on the night of the dance. Proceeds will go toward strengthening the various youth groups now incorporated into the new Community Center. Advanced sales indicate that many Kingstonians returning to town for the holidays will be present.

Collection of TB Yule Seals Opens In Woodstock Shop

A complete collection of Christmas Seals of this country from the first Christmas Seal of 1907 to this year's Christmas Seal went on display Monday at Bob Fatum's Men Shop in Woodstock, according to James L. Rowe, county Seal Sale chairman.

The owner of the Christmas Seals collection is Chester A. Van Demark of Kingston who helped set up the display. Van Demark has turned over his collection of Seals to the Ulster County TB and Health Association for display purposes for the remainder of the association's 1951 Christmas Seals Campaign which officially closes Dec. 25. This year's Christmas Seal Sale will finance the 1952 anti-tuberculosis program of the TB Association.

Meanwhile, the Christmas Seals booth opened Monday at the Central Post Office in Kingston for the convenience of residents who may not have received the Christmas Seals in the mail or wish to purchase additional seals.

The booth will remain open for the duration of the seal sale which opened Nov. 19 and which will continue until Christmas.

Women at Booths

The Christmas Seals booth is staffed by women volunteers wearing headbands bearing the replica of the Double-Barred Cross, insignia of the National Tuberculosis Association and its 3,000 affiliates throughout the country. Manning the booth Monday and Tuesday were members of the B'nai B'rith Auxiliary. The Catholic Daughters of America will serve today and Thursday. On Friday, women from the American Legion Auxiliary will attend the booth and for Saturday, members of the Clinton Chapter OES have volunteered their services.

Many shops and restaurants throughout the city and towns of the county have set up Christmas Seals coin boxes on their counters. The white plastic coin box is identified by the red double-barred cross on the front as designed by Harold Van Doren, nationally known industrial designer as a contribution to the Christmas Seal Sale.

"The idea of a Christmas Seal Sale to raise funds to fight tuberculosis," said Rowe, "originated in America in 1907 with the late Emily P. Bissell, a welfare worker in Wilmington, Del. On Dec. 7 of that year, Miss Bissell opened the first Christmas Seal Sale in the United States to raise funds to enable some local doctors to continue their treatment of a group of tuberculosis patients along modern rest cure lines."

Much Progress Made

Rowe said that although a great deal of progress has been made against tuberculosis since the first Christmas Seal Sale, this communicable disease remains a serious problem today responsible for 1 out of every 33 deaths in this country. Tuberculosis has been forced down from the first to seventh place among the leading causes of death in this country since Miss Bissell's first Christmas Seal Sale, but it still leads all the diseases as a cause of death in the age group from 15 to 35. "We must fight the disease with every weapon at our command, and Christmas Seals are a powerful weapon against tuberculosis. Christmas Seals purchases make possible the year 'round tuberculosis prevention and control program of the Ulster County TB and Health Association. I appeal to every Ulster county resident to buy and use as many Christmas Seals as they can, for Christmas Seals are working to make Ulster county a healthier place in which to live," Rowe added.

Chanukah Discussed

The Sisterhood of Temple Emanuel held its monthly meeting last Wednesday in the social hall of the Temple. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Herbert I. Bloom discussed the forthcoming holiday, Chanukah, the Feast of Lights.

Mrs. Richard Kalish has been appointed chairman of the recently established Temple Emanuel Sisterhood gift shop, and among other things, displayed the different gifts available for Chanukah, also appropriate wrapping paper, ribbons and cards.

A very interesting program, in which the intelligence of the members present was tested, followed. Mrs. Nathan Friedman, program chairman, had some brain-twisters to solve in her twenty questions game. Everybody participated and Mrs. Jack Greenwald, hostess, won the prize. Refreshments were served.

Good Taste Today

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

PERSISTENCE OF UNWELCOME VISITOR

A distressed wife asks: "How can I tactfully rid myself of a would-be intimate friend who persists in spending endless unwelcome hours at my house on almost every Saturday night? Saturday night is practically the only time my husband and I can spend any length of time together at home, but invariably this person comes in and stays on and on! Can you help me?"

The only thing I can suggest is that you darken your house so as to give the impression you are not at home. In order not to bar members of your family or dear friends whom you want to see, you will have to have a doorbell signal. This may sound very deceitful, but I really don't know how else you can preserve the enjoyment of your home.

Conscienceless Book Borrower
Dear Mrs. Post: A friend borrowed a current book from me several weeks ago. Although I have reminded her twice, she has made no move to return it. What can I do?

Answer: Go to see her and ask quite frankly, "Have you finished the book I lent you?" And add, "John is very anxious to read it."

In Worst Possible Taste
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever proper for a woman to wear a formal evening dress if the man with whom she is dining has no dinner coat and has to wear a business suit?

Answer: This is a very moot question of the present day when any number of well-born men wearing day clothes are accompanying women in barest of evening clothes. According to longest established etiquette, a gentleman accompanying a lady in evening dress must wear at least a tuxedo. A man in day clothes accompanying a woman in low cut evening clothes has always, in former years, been very disparaging to the woman's social standing.

Don't Skip Grown-up Jobs Just to Play With Child

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sometimes Squidge seems to understand why a mother who is soon to have a new baby likes to sit in the easy chair. But this is one of the days when he doesn't feel like understanding it. So, when he says: "What'll I do, now, mom?" for the sixth time in 10 minutes, his mother sighs. She pushes herself up from the easy chair and says, "All right, make a train of the dining room chairs, darling. I'll be passenger."

Patiently, the passenger sits on the hard dining room chair, but her heart isn't in it. As the conductor swings his lantern and yells, "All Aboard!", her mind wanders out to the fruit bowl in the kitchen. She is mentally uneasy and physically uncomfortable. She thinks, "It's way after four o'clock. If I want that fruit-cup chilled for dinner, I ought to be at it right now..."

Absently she hands the conductor her ticket—and gets a good hard push from him. "Get off my train!" he commands. "You're a drippy passenger. I like 'pretend' passengers better than you!"

If the passenger is smart, she will accept this rebuke with meekness and gratitude. It contains a most helpful lesson.

We do not have to play train or any other kind of game with children if the play interferes with adult responsibilities or if we do not enjoy the game. We are not loved because of our proficiency in cutting up paper dolls or in building erector sets. We are loved because we are grownups.

WE'RE NOT CHILDREN, BUT GROWNUPS

So let's play games only when they do not interfere with our adult jobs, when we really can relax and enjoy the games. When the games interfere, or begin to bore us, we should say, "That's all, now, darling. I'm tired" . . . or "I have to go to work now."

Dr. Frederick H. Allen is the Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at Johns Hopkins School of Medicine and the director of the Philadelphia Child Guidance Clinic. In an absorbing new symposium called "The People In Your Life," he writes:

"The mother who says of herself, 'My feelings don't count; I am only concerned about what is good for my child,' is starting off on a false basis. When she annihilates herself to that extent, she cannot provide any of the experience of outside reality which a child needs from her. When fathers fall into the false idea that the only way to make friends with their sons is to get down to their level, to do all the things that they do . . . the result is confusing to both adult and child."

Perhaps our cult of youth-worship accounts for our impression that children want us to be their playmates. If we think that our adulthood is a liability, instead of an asset in making ourselves loved and trusted by little boys and girls, we are certainly on the wrong road.

Our ability to take adult responsibilities is the deep, rich, loam that secures young roots so that they can so thrusting up in blind trust of that grown-up universe which we represent.

So if we have to make dessert, let's make it and refuse to play train. If we want to sit down after making it, let's do that, too. We are not children, but grownups who are entitled to the rest that belongs to them whenever they need it.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

It Isn't Hard to Recall Past Hands

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

People sometimes wonder how a bridge expert remembers all the cards that have been played in a hand. They'd be even more surprised if they saw the experts at a tournament, discussing every hand that they have played, each expert remembering the exact location of each card in every single hand.

This is not as difficult as it sounds. To the expert, every card tells a story. It's much easier to remember a meaningful story than to remember a series of unrelated facts.

The contract in today's hand is not particularly exciting, but it gives me a chance to show how each card tells a story. It's all so logical that South has no reason to forget what has happened.

West opened the queen of spades, and East had to win with the king. When East went into a short huddle and then returned the three of diamonds, it was perfectly clear that East had no more spades.

Now South knew that West had started with A-Q-J-9-3 of spades. Nevertheless, East had not opened mond, two hearts, and either three or four clubs. He needed four clubs to make his contract. How should he play the suit?

Since he was doing his planning early, it was easy for him to remember what had happened on the previous trick. East had led the three of diamonds. Evidently, East had only four diamonds.

This meant that West also had four diamonds. Since West was known to have five spades, it was clear that West could have only four cards in hearts and clubs together.

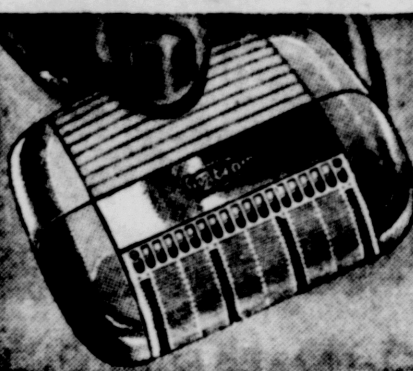

South decided that West was short in clubs. He therefore led a club to dummy's ace and returned a club to finessse the ten. When this finessse succeeded the contract was safe.

If you have trouble with your bridge memory, just try to read every possible meaning from each play. Your memory trouble will disappear completely.

Not So Small Now

New York city's first postal force, in 1827, consisted of only eight clerks and six letter carriers, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Boy Gets Rail Stock From Erie President

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—The nine-year-old boy who wants to own the Erie railroad got his project off to a good start yesterday.

He is George Samuel Edgar, who recently moved from Ridge-wood, N. J., to Wappingers Falls, N. Y.

The Erie's president, P. W. Johnston, handed the boy his first share of stock at a director's meeting. It cost about $17.50.

George had saved $11.25 when he wrote Johnston that he wanted to buy a share of stock. The executive chipped in the difference. "I am going to buy more until I own the Erie Railroad," George pledged.

He was taken for a ride in the engine of an Erie train as sort of a bonus. On the way, he had to take an Erie ferry to New Jersey. Said George: "I own part of this ferry now."

Marine Corps League Prepares for Ball

Plans are progressing for the annual ball of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, scheduled Saturday, Jan. 19 at the Kingston Elks Club, according to Commandant Edward Esposito, who is general chairman of the affair. Among marines assisting with plans are (l. to r.) Thomas Finnerty, Joseph Naccarato, Sgt. C. Awkerman and Albert J. Melville, past commandant. Commandant Esposito, at extreme right, anticipates a record attendance and receipts of at least $500 to turn over to the Kingston Boys Club. (Freeman Photo)

Marines to Donate Proceeds of Ball to Kingston Boys Club

At a meeting of committee chairmen Tuesday night, reports indicated that the annual ball on Saturday night, Jan. 19, would be one of the most successful ever sponsored by Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League.

Commandant Edward Esposito, general chairman of the affair, said he was greatly pleased with the outlook for the social event that is to be held in the Kingston Elks Club on Fair street. "Every committee is functioning efficiently," Esposito said, "and the cooperation I've been receiving indicates a highly successful ball as enjoyable as last year's promotion."

Proceeds of the January 19 social occasion will go to the Kingston Boys Club, which the ex-marines consider one of the city's most worthy projects in that it has been endorsed by many in the field of youth movements.

The Boys' Club adjugers on Greenkill avenue is undergoing improvements at present and has a busy schedule planned for the ensuing year.

Star Performers Booked
Last year's Marine League ball at the Elks featured a special floor show, bringing to Kingston talented performers of the stage and screen under the direction of Jimmy Dagle, one of the best-known agents in the entertainment world. He will furnish the show on January 19, and promises it will be of the same calibre.

There will be music for dancing from 8 p. m. to 1 o'clock, with an hour's show scheduled for 10 p. m.

Tickets are on sale by members of the committee, or may be procured at the door the night of the ball.

Those who attended the last ball promoted by the marines are looking forward to the event, according to reports, because of the enjoyable time they had at the Elks where the ball was arranged in a night club setting.

Proceeds of that affair arranged by Albert J. Melville when he was commandant went to St. Albans Hospital for veterans, who sent letters of thanks for the $500 donation.

"We know the Kingston Boys' Club needs the money," said Commandant Esposito, "and feel certain that the many friends of the youngsters wish success for the ball."

Serving on committees besides those mentioned are John Ray Mayone, Eugene Barkow, Harold Macholdt and Frank Cronk.

Investor Forum

by
Harry C. France

Savings bonds in large volume mature in the years immediately ahead. During 1952, 1953 and 1954 a total of $21,825,000,000 series E, F and G obligations will fall due. Assuming that each bond owner averages $2,000—and I think that is conservative—it would mean that 10-million investors will have cash available for reinvestment within three years.

These years could prove to be the greatest in stockholder growth in the economic history of America. The fulfillment of this prediction rests with the stock brokers, investment bankers and advisers of the country.

Most savings bond holders are income-conscious. They are unlike currency hoarders. A person who willfully leaves his money unemployed may be motivated to do this for a number of reasons. He may be a tax-evader. Or his tax liability may be so high that income is no factor in his economic welfare. Or he may be full of fear.

The billions of idle dollars in America have a queer and subtle psychology under them. But dollars in savings bonds are different. For the most part they are owned by those who want interest with which to pay bills and to maintain living standards. Here is a man, for example, who will soon get $2,000 from maturing bonds.

Interest is vital in his economic world. His family living costs have soared. The only savings that have remotely kept pace with what he paid for food, clothing and shelter have been the savings invested in common stocks. So, he is eagerly waiting to get his maturing bond money.

And likewise are millions of other bondholders. That is why I write this article before 1952 is ushered in. The figures noted above should be of very great interest to stock brokers and investment dealers. Cash in large volume will be available for investment.

To every reader of these lines who will come into money via savings bond maturity, I should like to address these practical facts:

Uncle Sam is borrowing nearly $260-billion at an overall yearly interest cost of about 2.27 per cent.

He has the power to keep money cheap—i.e. interest rates low.

If you are satisfied with low interest rates (many are) you can buy government 2½ per cent callable bonds callable in 15 years for about $970 for a $1,000 bond.

If low interest rates put a crimp in your living standards, you had better look into the common stock field for your reinvestment program.

If you have never bought and held common stocks (and there are millions of savings bond holders who haven't), here are some suggestions to follow when you consider buying such securities. Buy no stock that has not paid regular and unflinching dividends for at least 10 years—from perhaps 1942 through 1951.

Ascertain the value of all cash dividends, stock rights and other emoluments during this period. Then figure the average yearly payment.

Assuming that the ten year period ahead (1952-1961) will be as prosperous as the one that has gone into history, determine if the present price of the stock is fair when measured against estimated future earnings. Thus, if a common stock is selling at $3 1/3 a share and paying $2.00 a share on the average during the 1942-1951 period, looks attractive on an annual six per cent basis, buy it.

And above all: Obey the two great rules of investment: BUY THE BEST; DIVERSIFY. During the decade 1952-1961, I would like to see 10-million maturing savings bond holders become stockholders in our country's enterprises.

Such action would strengthen economic America. It would encourage thrift and saving in our great country. It would lessen the load Uncle Sam will have to carry when a depression comes along.

Surplus Men in Australia
Sydney, Australia (AP)—Australia's population has passed the 8½ million mark. There are more men than women in every State except South Australia. Males outnumber females by 78,000 throughout the Commonwealth. Unofficial estimates place the population at the end of last month at 8,530,000. Ten years ago Australia's population was 7,137,000.

THE SONGS OF CHRISTMAS

Now we come to the story of one of the great musical masterpieces of all time, George Frederick Handel's "The Messiah." It is doubtful if any single work of music has done more for mankind than this magnificent oratorio.

Aside from the sublimity of the music and its effect on man's spiritual side, it has been a great vehicle for charity. Literally it has "fed the hungry, clothed the naked, comforted the sorrowing."

Handel, German born but English by adoption, was a genius and a controversial figure of his time. His career was a succession of failures and successes. In his hot-headed youth he fought a duel, disarming his opponent.

Kingston-Port Jervis Game Re-Scheduled Tonight at Auditorium

Tuesday's Storm Wipes Out Entire DUSO Schedule

Maroons Seek Third Straight Victory

The Kingston-Port Jervis DUSO League basketball game, snowed out last night, has been re-scheduled for tonight at 8:30 at the municipal auditorium.

Yesterday's heavy storm wiped out the entire DUSO slate and marked the second straight postponement for the undefeated Maroons.

The Jayvee contest is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

The Poughkeepsie - Fallsburg game has been re-scheduled for Feb. 12.

Coach G. Warren Kias said yesterday that no date has yet been set for the postponed Kingston-Beacon contest.

The KHS Maroons will be seeking their third straight win. They won their DUSO opener against Poughkeepsie, 62-55, and then tripped Monticello, 67-54.

Port Jervis notched its first victory of the season last Friday with a 49-46 conquest of Middletown. Previously, the Red and Black had lost to Newburgh and Ellenville.

The tri-staters are a tougher ball club than their record indicates and in Bob Habig boast of one of the conference's best shooters. Harold Cronk and Bill Lord are the other Port standouts.

The probable lineups:

Kingston	Port Jervis
Hooker	RF
Madison	LF
Koenig	C
Camp	RG
Murphy	LG
	Habig
	Lord
	Lutz
	Cronk
	McCarthy

SPINNY'S RADIO FIVE AT HEIGHT OF ITS GLORY

Following in the wake of the fabulous Chandlers, the Spinny's Radio Five of Port Ewen of the 1930-31 era was the most talked of local basketball squad of its time. It held forth at Pythian Hall in Port Ewen and cut a wide swath among area and road teams. Playing styles and uniforms have changed a great deal since then, and Bud Culloton wouldn't be caught in a suit like that today, but the record of the Port Ewen outfit has become something of a local legend. The above photo was taken during the 1930-31 season when Spinny's were at the peak of their fame. The team personnel included, seated, left to right: Jack Short, Al Short, Wes Hyatt, Harold "Chicken" Smith and Amasa Smith. Standing: Earle O. Terwilliger, manager; Bud Culloton, coach; and Frank "Bing" Van Etten. These former greats will be seen in action against the Chandlers on the "Old Timers Night" basketball program on Tuesday, Dec. 28, at the YMCA.

New Steeler Coach

Pittsburgh, Dec. 19 (AP)—Joe Bach, who likes his football wide open with lots of "T", is coming to Pittsburgh as head coach of the National Football League's Steelers, a team that fared poorly with the single wing this year. Art Rooney, owner of the Steelers, named Bach yesterday a few hours after he fired Johnny Michelosen, head coach since 1948.

Wiltwycks, Electrol Win in 'Y' League

Bill Kleine Sinks 30 Points for Motormen

Big Bill Kleine, the Woodstock sharpshooter, unloaded 31 points to lead Wiltwyck Motors to a thumping 68-52 victory over Jones Dairy in a YMCA "A" basketball league contest last night at the Y court.

Bob Dederick drilled the winning basket in the final 10 seconds of play as Electrol shaded New Paltz, 53-51, for its first league victory.

Capt. Bob Murray's Wiltwycks played touch-and-go with the Dairy men for three periods before they broke loose with a 23-point fourth quarter. They were going away at the finish.

Kleine found the range for 14 baskets and had three singletons. Bud Scheffel hit 14 at center and Vince Peck tossed 11. Joe Norton's 12 points led the losers, with Don Hobart and Dan Schrader hitting 11 apiece. The clubs were tied 12-12 at the quarter, 32-32 at halftime, before the Motormen edged ahead 45-43 at the three-quarter mark. Then came the deluge.

Dederick Sinks 20 The Electrol-New Paltz game was nip and tuck, with New Paltz leading for three periods before Electrol came on with a 13-8 edge in the final quarter.

The Paltzers were ahead 11-8 at the quarter, 25-24 at halftime and extended their margin to 43-40 at the head of the stretch.

Dederick's winning basket represented his 20th point of the game on nine fields and two singletons. George Haun tossed 11.

Tom Anacone unloaded eleven ducous to spark the New Paltz attack with 22 points. John Tizio, held in check in his second game after a 24-point debut in the loop, returned to scoring form with 17 points.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

Pittsburgh — Coach Johnny Michelosen of Pittsburgh, Steelers fired, and Joe Bach, head coach at St. Bonaventure College, was hired to direct National Football League club.

Brooklyn, N. Y. — Chuck Dressen, manager of Brooklyn Dodgers, signed and returned blank contract to club, with instructions that officials fill in 1952 salary terms.

San Francisco — Joe Phillips, head of California State Athletic Commission, said that if Joe Louis applied for boxing license he would be denied because of old age.

Washington — Jim Tatum, head football coach of University of Maryland, denied report school would bolt Southern Conference because it refused permission for team to play Tennessee in Sugar Bowl.

Two Platoons Still in Favor

New York, Dec. 19 (AP)—There's one thing sure about the two platoon system in football—you can stir up a good argument about it whether you're for or against it. The Associated Press posed this question to sportswriters and sportscasters:

"The two platoon system, with its attendant increases in the size of playing squads and coaching staffs, is being blamed for many of football's ills. Do you agree?"

Of the 121 replies received in the year-end poll, 71 said they favored the system. Some thought it was good, others were more enthusiastic and called it a great thing for the game.

Fifty said they were against two platoons and their reactions ranged from a mild protest to a violent dissent.

Those who were for the system of alternating offensive and defensive teams listed the following reasons:

1—It gives more boys a chance to play.
2—It makes for more exciting football.
3—This is an era of specialists, why not in football?

It reduces the number of injuries in that fresh players are used.

The antis listed the following reasons:

1—The necessity for "deep" squads furthered recruiting and proselytizing.
2—It will force many schools, especially the smaller ones, to give up the game because of the cost.
3—It is too confusing for the spectator.

4—It makes for too many specialists.
5—It completely takes the game out of the hands of the boys.

Third Straight For Baptists

Trailing 27-36 going into the stretch, the Progressive Baptist cagers scored 22 points in the fourth period to defeat a stubborn Redeemer Lutheran quintet, 49-42, last night at the Y for its third straight victory in the Protestant Church League.

Bob Baumer made a gallant one-man stand against the speedy Negro cagers but his mates wilted under the pressure of the Baptists' late drive.

Baumer, individual scoring leader in the circuit, hit with 22 points on ten fields and a couple of fouls. Bob Smith added eight points.

John Burris set the pace for Progressives with 19 points and John Cody contributed a dozen.

Ferraro Rolls Third '300' Bowling Score

Dressen Willing To Take Anything

Brooklyn, Dec. 19 (AP)—If President Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers were a whimsical man, he might get his baseball club managed next year for $25—or any other sum that comes to mind.

But chances are he'll shell out around $30,000 to Charley Dressen to provide the brain work for the Flatbushers' 1952 pennant effort.

Charley left the matter of salary entirely up to his boss in returning his signed contract yesterday from his California home. The one-year pact came to the Dodgers' office with Dressen's bold signature but with the salary line blank.

O'Malley can write that figure in himself.

"I am glad to return to Brooklyn—the best club in our league," Dressen wrote in a note to Vice President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi.

Dressen, who saw his Dodgers blow a 13½ game lead and lose out to the New York Giants in a dramatic National League playoff, was actually rehired several weeks ago but the contract was not formally signed.

Asked if Charley would get a raise, O'Malley said: "I can't imagine Charley would stress that point too strongly."

Bruins Gain 5-5 Tie With Red Wings

(By The Associated Press)
The Boston Bruins held undisputed possession of third place today in the National Hockey League, after pulling from behind a two-goal deficit against the Detroit Red Wings to gain a 5-5 tie in the league's only game last night.

It was the most spectacular game of the season at Boston, but a small crowd of 4,290 turned out because of bad weather.

After Detroit pulled into a 5-3 lead on Gordie Howe's goal at 54 seconds of the final period, the Bruins tied it up on goals by Hal Laycoe and Johnny Peirson—the final score coming at 13:51.

Boston had taken a 2-0 lead in the first period, when Milt Schmidt and Jack McIntyre scored twice within a minute. Schmidt scored again in the middle period, when Ted Lindsay, Metro Prystai and Glen Skov tallied for Detroit. The first Red Wing goal came in the opening session when Vic Stasiuk beat goalie Jim Henry with less than three minutes left.

The Ace Tosses 12 Strikes in Open Play

Johnny Ferraro's experiment with a brand new "finger tip" grip proved a 100-per cent success Tuesday afternoon at the Bowlodrome. Three hundred per cent, in fact!

Rolling against Jimmy Amendola on the famed alleys 7 and 8, Ferraro tossed 12 strikes in a row for the third perfect score of "300" in his distinguished bowling career.

Ferraro, who was the 'first local bowler to roll a "300" in ABC sanctioned play in Kingston, hit his second "300" in open competition against a Schenectady squad. It was part of a sensational 798 series.

It was the seventh "300" recorded in local history and followed by only a few days the perfect score rolled by Joe Schrowang on the same pair of drives.

Ferraro, a notorious speculator with new grips and pitches, drilled the new grip Monday night.

After the "300" frame, Ferraro set out in pursuit of another one but was balked after four strikes in a row, giving him a string of 16.

Amendola, the 9W match game champion, was as happy as Ferraro about the "300."

"I've been waiting for years to see a perfect game," he said, "and it sure is a thrill."

Godwins Have New

Book Published

Woodstock, Dec. 19—The latest book by Stephanie and Edward Godwin, particularly suited to the Christmas season is Roman Eagle, recently published by the Oxford University Press. In a sensitive novel which moves from the Holy Land to ancient Rome and Greece, written for the teen-age group, the Godwins have made large of antiquity young again and more captured the spirit which made Greece and Rome great, and the Holy Land reversed.

The Godwins, in both their text,
maps and chapter illustrations,
have achieved an extraordinary vivid portrait of the world immediately before and after the Crucifixion. The plight of trapped Roman legions in the snowy wastes of Gaul, the howling ignominies of the capture of Christ, the enchantment of young love in Galilee are as alive in this book today as they were in actuality many centuries ago.

The Godwins have both spent much time in Rome, Greece and Palestine, which has given them a sure touch of reality, plus an extra perception of how the people lived during the early Christian times.

The Godwins have been residents of Woodstock since their arrival from England a few years ago.

Boys Club Prepares for Yule Party

Painting project underway by (l. to r.) Howard Dawson, Joseph Thurin and Charles Parkes.

Everything must be in order at the work benches, so these members (l. to r.) are cleaning up: Nick Cosmo, Jr., Nathan Davis and Robert Vertetis. (Freeman Photos)

Plenty of hustling is being done,
but efficiently, at the Kingston Boys Club, 139 Greenkill avenue, in preparation for the Christmas party scheduled Saturday, Dec.
22.

Nick Cosmo, new director replacing the late A. S. "Pop"
Fuhman, has announced that Santa will be present with goodies for all who attend. And, there will be carol singing and movies
during the yule festivities.

The club is open to all boys from eight years of age through 18 with a varied program for everybody's interest.

At present the club is being remodeled and repainted for the Christmas party, and the boys are doing the work themselves.

All Are Interested

"We have an efficient group," said Director Cosmo, "and each boy is interested in helping on the project."

Some of the members busy on the "clean-up" program are Joe Thurin, John Thurin, Charles Parkes, Nick Cosmo, Jr., Ray Van
Buren, Don Post, Nate Davis,
Howard Dawson, Jack Herrick,
Ray Reilly, Ken Tyler, Joe Fabiano, Don Van Buren, Mickey Carr and Robert Vertetis.

President Herbert Shultz of the board of directors is more than pleased with the efforts to supply a home-like atmosphere with pleasant surroundings.

The plan is to furnish more games for the boys and add a wider range of equipment for mechanical accomplishments and handcraft work.

List of Activities

On the list of activities are woodworking, art, plane model building, photography. When funds and facilities are available there will be a library program and a symposium for physical exercise.

The club is open from 3 p. m. to 10 p. m. with a stipulation that younger boys leave for home in the evening at the proper hour.
Formal meetings are held once a week.

Emphasis is placed on individual creativity, development of character and citizenship. Club leaders are chosen from among those with outstanding abilities.

Marines Assist

Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, is one organization with the Boys Club at heart and has arranged to donate the proceeds of its January 19 ball to the organization for its extended program in the ensuing year.

Hudson, N. Y., Dec. 19 (AP)—A Columbia county Republican committeeman admitted today that he had sought votes and acted as a "middleman" for "payoffs" he said were made by a convicted gambler to the late chief of police in Hudson.

And a state trooper testified that he had found Hudson police officers in a house of prostitution
when state police made a raid last summer.

Samuel Raco, committeeman
from the Second Ward of Hudson, was asked by Assistant Counsel
Ben A. Matthews of the State Crime Commission at a public hearing on vice in the county:

"Did you receive any money around election time?"

A. Yes.

Q. Did you substantially buy votes with it?

A. Yes.

Q. Have you ever been the middleman for any payoff for these activities?

A. Yes.

Q. For whom were you acting?

A. Chief of Police (Thomas V.)
Howe, deceased.

Q. From whom did you receive the money you paid Chief Howe?

A. Benny Goldstein.

Goldstein has a record of one conviction for gambling. He was arrested by state police last summer on a gambling charge and pleaded guilty in city court. He was fined $1,000.

Howe, a Republican, was police chief for several years before his death early in 1950.

Payments Made Week

Raco said $110 payments were made about a week.

When Matthews asked whether Howe had threatened to close crap games, Raco answered yes.

"What happened to him as a result of his crusade?" Matthews asked.

"We had a meeting over here in the court house between (Thomas P.) Kennedy, (Earl J.)
Colwell and (Milton) Saulpaugh and they told him to lay off because that was their best means of contribution," Raco testified.

Q. Kennedy was district attorney at the time?

A. Yes.

Q. Saulpaugh was sheriff?

A. Yes.

Q. Colwell was mayor?

A. Yes.

Q. How long did these payments continue?

A. About six or seven weeks.

Colwell, who was mayor from 1939 to 1949, was asked by the counsel what he had done to suppress crime in the city.

He replied that he had taken the matter up with the chief of police each time he received a complaint.

Q. Nothing happened and you kept taking it up?

A. Yes.

Introduces Statement

Matthews then introduced in evidence a financial statement of Colwell's receipts and expenditures for five years.

Matthews said it showed that Colwell had spent about $10,000 more than he took in.

Commission Chairman Joseph
Proskauer remarked to Colwell
"you had better study this sheet and your records and come back here with an explanation."

State Trooper H. A. Vann testified that he had seen two police officers in a house of prostitution
last summer.

He said they were Patrolman
Finch and Sergeant Egan. There

a Sgt

Mayor Newkirk Welcomes Children at Lions Party

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk welcomed more than 50 young guests of the Lions Club last night on the occasion of its annual Christmas party in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Following a turkey dinner, noise makers, balloons, and other favors were distributed to the children. Edmund Holland playing the role of Santa Claus presented each of the children with a special gift. The party was concluded with community singing of familiar carols and popular Christmas songs. Alvin Feuerstein, president, and Mayor Newkirk are shown in the photo with some of the happy children. (Freeman Photo) war subcommittee when it reconvenes.

Allied negotiations had forced the list of prisoners from the Reds, charging they were using it as a bludgeon for other concessions and refusing to discuss further conditions on exchange of prisoners until the precise number was known. The UN command said it could expect to get back only those prisoners definitely identified by the Reds in advance of an agreement.

The committee reconvenes at the call of allied delegates. They

that Captain Shirley would return to her from the confines of the Communist prison camp.

"Even if I hadn't heard his name mentioned among the prisoner list announced last night and this morning," she added, "I still had the feeling that he would return safely some day."

The joy of the possibility that Captain Shirley would be returned to the United States as a prisoner of war may spread throughout the entire community of Woodstock if Mrs. Orestes Cleveland, the captain's mother-in-law, has her way.

Talking to a Freeman reporter this morning, Mrs. Cleveland said if the news is correct she planned to hold an open house at her home for the entire village of Woodstock, when the captain returns.

Since becoming a prisoner of the Communist in Korea, Captain Shirley has managed to send two letters to his loved ones in Woodstock. The first was received here in late August and another one, written in August, was received by Mrs. Shirley in October.

With Second Division

In the second message, Captain Shirley explained that he was in a prisoner of war camp with 50 British and American officers. At the time of his capture, he was a member of the Second Infantry Division.

21 Navy Barges

Signing of the contract for the ferry gives Island Dock, Inc., a backlog of 38 new vessels, to build, including 21 steel deck barges for the U. S. Navy, a coal hopper barge for the Sargent Barge Line, Inc., of New York, a grain barge for Dwyer Lighterage, Inc., of this city and nine landing craft for the navy.

All of the boats are to be of steel, which has already arrived or is on order.

Four of the 21 steel deck barges for the navy are under construction, and two are expected to be launched next month.

Designer of the craft for Shelter Island-Greenport Ferry Company was Eads Johnson, a naval architect of New York.

President of the company is Waldo L. Kraemer, who also serves as vice president of the Kearfott Engineering Company, the country's leading manufacturer of windows for marine use.

New Systems Used

London, Dec. 19 (AP)—A new system of striped traffic crosswalks went into effect on busy London streets at the start of November. Pedestrians using the black and white "zebra" safety zones are entitled to the right of way over cars. Today the metropolitan police announced the pedestrian casualty list for November: 66 killed, up nine from October and six from November, 1950; 3,658 injured, up 204 from October and 77 from the preceding November.

U. S. Tells Russia

the Middle East against joining the command "constitute interference in the affairs of these countries."

To Create Base

In addition to claiming that the project was aggressive in design, the Russian note had charged that the aim was to create a great base for the armed forces "of the Atlantic bloc," to assure the western governments of "the possibility of continuous interference" in the affairs of Middle Eastern countries, and to deprive those countries of "their national independence."

The U. S. told Moscow the Middle Eastern states are free to decide whether they will join the command, that the command will not interfere in their internal affairs and that there is no basis whatever for the charge of aggression against the Soviet bloc.

The Soviet-Nazi negotiations referred to in the American note were discovered when the allies captured German documents in the last war. Many of these documents, including those on which the current note bases its charges, were published by the State Department about five years ago in a volume of Nazi-Soviet relations.

Plane Reports Trouble

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 19 (AP)—Emergency air escort planes raced out over the Pacific today for a rendezvous with a four-engine navy transport plane reported in trouble about 900 miles off the coast. The pilot's message said he had a "runaway propeller." This meant he couldn't control the speed or pitch of the blades. It was the No. 2 engine, the message said, inboard on the left side. The plane was en route from Honolulu to the navy air base at Moffett Field, south of San Francisco. Messages from the plane did not say how many were aboard.

Futile Chase

Montreal (AP)—A rooftop chase after two thieves sent police constable Marcel Pilon to the hospital. He suffered a broken foot when he slipped while leaping from a garage roof in pursuit of the suspects. They escaped.

Soviet Court Says

recruited from displaced persons camps in western Germany by American intelligence agents. They were given special training by American agents in map-making, use of firearms, parachute-jumping, organizing sabotage and terror, and spying.

Investigation and trial brought out that Osmanov and Sarantsev were smuggled into Greece after being trained, and from there were flown in by American officers to the place where they parachuted onto Soviet territory.

Both were said to have testified at their trial that after carrying out their assignments they were to report to U. S. agents at Kars, Turkey.

The account gave no details on how the men were caught, when they were tried, nor when and how their death sentences were carried out.

Although it has been about four months since they were said to have dropped into Russia, today's announcement — a also broadcast over Moscow radio — was the first hint of the case.

The answers to everyday insurance problems

By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: You read in the papers about cars or buses running off the street and crashing into houses. Someone made a joke the other day about people who lived on bad corners taking out insurance. Is there any insurance of that kind?

ANSWER: Yes, there is. Damage to property from wild vehicles comes under the Extended Coverage clause which can be added to a fire policy.

"If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND."
